INTRODUCTION

The beginning words must seek a cause, a reason for beginning and for ending. This is a book, then, for all the strangers who have met, and more especially for all who have become something less than strangers. As we remember 1951 it was the winter of despair, but it was also the spring of hope. Yes, these are the best and worst of times, there is despair and hope, the hope backed by ambition, a determination to grow.

A child was born and began to walk. He walked across the rolling plains, gazed back at the white-faced cattle, walked by huge mine shafts grinding into the earth. He stood in awe midst the mountains raising their shaggy heads toward the blazing sun and dangled his weary feet in a rushing stream. The child is now a man and a man who has grown shall not stop.

One of Senior Week's oldest traditions is the honoring of the senior women. The women form a lantern circle around the seniors in their caps and gowns who are standing in the shape of an M.

Lyn Erb smiled back as we watched the colorful floats in the homecoming parade. Snow, alums, parties, alums, football, and alums helped to make it a successful homecoming for 1950 . . .

Singing On the Steps, an old tradition that served to bring out the Christmas spirit and students that enjoy singing. Ray Hoffman led the Spurs and the rest of us in a medley of carols

Student Union . . . the place for meetings of every size, shape, and form. The Coke store was the place to be for those between class breaks and during convo hour . . .

Library . . . from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. we studied here, did last minute source papers and made Saturday night dates, then lit out for the Coke store . . .

North Hall's front lawn blossomed with sunbabies come spring. Sometimes it was bridge or a half-hearted attempt to study, but we always got a tan.

ADMINISTRATION

LINDBERG

GOVERNOR JOHN BONNER An alum of MSU, Gov. Bonner serves as ex-officio chairman of the state board.

They guided the Greater University system through another year of money appropriations. Controlled it all on the state-committee level by the Board of Education.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

PRESIDENT M^CFARLAND

We welcomed an old alum back to MSU this year, and he came back as president of the University. Dr. Carl McFarland took over the administrative reins this spring with the air of a veteran and we're glad to have him back.

DR. JESSE took over as president during the gap and was liked by all. Now he is veep again.

DEAN CASTLE

Academic dean . . .
he has the job
of keeping student records straight.

DEAN CLOW

Dean of Women
she accomplishes
the impossible
by knowing every girl
on campus and helps with many womens'
organizations.

DEAN WUNDERLICH

Dean of Men
He attends many meetings and gives help to the masculine proportion of the student body.

J. B. SPEER

Controller Watches the University budget with a wary eye toward present and past finances.

A. C. COGSWELL

Director of Public Relations
Andy serves as alumni secretary and works energetically on furthering MSU interests through public relations.

L. J. CARLTON

Acting director of summer session
He keeps summer quarter students busy with new and different extra-curricular activities as well as studies.

OFFICIALS

LEO SMITH . . . Registrar
He kept busy traveling the state familiarizing Montanans with the advantages of MSU.

A. L. KADLEC
Veterans' guidance . . .
He handles vets' problems although his duties are not as heavy now with decreases in vet enrollment.

E. KIRK BADGLEY . . . Auditor
Quiet but firm, Kirk keeps tab on student and University spending. He helped student officers with the new budget this year.

KATHLEEN CAMPBELL . . . Librarian
She keeps track of the volumes and workings of the library. Is willing to help students and had a survey this year to check on library deficiencies.

E. W. MARTELL

Editor publications . . .
He handles news releases and checks publications issued by and for the University.

TOM SWEARINGEN

Maintenance Engineer . . .
The object of gripes about parking lots, lawns,
and shoveled sidewalks, Mr.
Swearingen manages to keep things in good running order.

COUNCILING CENTER

A place where the door is always open and students can go for help in study habits or troubles with their courses. These people conduct a series of tests to determine field interest or subject classifications. The staff delivers lectures to freshmen with the accent on study habits and do many other services to make college work easier.

Dean of Graduate School

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Intense concentration and the real students are found in the graduate student category. With a definite field in mind, they have little time for the pranks and parties the undergrads do.

EDUCATION

The future teachers of Montana are trained in this school. Many have minors in English and go on to get their teacher's certificates. Majors take such courses as primary education, and secondary education. The main object is to have the teachers smarter than the pupils.

LAW

Potential lawyers are a studious clan that stick pretty much together. You'll find them arguing loud and long in the coke store about such things as torts, criminal law, civil procedure ad infinitum. Just this year the course has been extended from three to four years.

The Temple . . . in the spring the students emerge to spend a few spare moments pitching dollars on the steps.

Known as one of the best Forestry schools in the country, MSU draws students from all over the nation. A recent addition was a new greenhouse next to the Forestry building. The students have an excellent opportunity for practical experience. (I'd like to have a nickel for every time the oval has been measured.)

SENIORS

We received our bars the day we were graduated.
A smart salute and a commission went with the diploma.

Huzzah . . . after four, and for some of us more, years of higher education we were tailor-made for the world ahead. We were a large class and a few of us had high school diplomas dating back to 1941. The future consisted of a uniform for some, but for the rest there were jobs if we wanted them. They called us the mighty seniors, but somehow we didn't feel so mighty. We wished that we had studied a little harder and learned a little more. There was also the wish that we had played harder and done more things.

Lantern parade . . . the M was a little crooked
and we surprised ourselves
when we choked up.

Toujours Gai was our by-word . . . we lost our gradepoints and a lot of our classmates, but we made it over the two-year hump . . .

It was a time for being efficient and settling down to the old grind. There were requirements to complete and we almost came under the category of being students. We frequented the Coke Store less often and knew almost everyone on campus by this time . . .

We were the big wheels in high school, but we put away our multi-colored letter sweaters to don green beanies and see what this panorama called college was like. Orientation week was a maze of new faces and tests, and registration lines went on forever. We climbed Mt. Sentinel with buckets of whitewash and even managed to get some on the M.

There were lots of things to learn, and we learned fast. The proverbial red apple didn't work with college profs, and they did give F's

PUBLICATIONS

SENTINEL

A place where old friends meet, an 8' by 20' extension of the Coke Store. This office heard discussions on everything from better student government to the sex life of a soc-eyed salmon, then we talked about the year-book. A lot of smoke, a lot of plans, the inevitable scurry before a deadline and always a cup of coffee, guaranteed to give the strongest ulcers. People, paper, cigarettes, coffee, plans and work . . . and that's what Sentinels are made of.

DONNA PERSONS . . . caught between her responsibilities and innovations, the little editor pushed her somewhat wavering staff through the year with an understanding personality. She bisected the complexities of deadlines, copy, and picture appointments to achieve her goal.

MARVIN McARTHUR . . . the "mighty mite" and good humor man of the Sentinel staff. Mac even combined business with pleasure, especially at Whitefish. The little man with the big job of finances, ad management, and distributing last year's belated books.

TOM AMBROSE . . . Although his time was mainly concentrated on the Kaimin, he devoted much energy toward obtaining contracts. Probed through the individual shots and many names to emerge with the class layouts.

BOB LINDBORG . . . Liked the hectic rush so well that he takes over next year as editor. Besides his time-devoted layout and sketches, his abilities were conscientiously directed in every Sentinel phase. He pushed layout responsibilities and deadlines with a firm smile.

CYRILE VAN DUSER . . . As advisor she furthered the diplomatic relations of the noisy, smokey room that adjoined hers. Added helpful suggestions and gave moral support.

SKULASON MOE . . . shutter-happy, hard-working man with the camera, Skuli conscientiously devoted his time-absorbing abilities to present the visual life of MSU in review. Ski parties and traffic tickets were all in the line of duty.

WILMA ELLIS, DANNY ON, and BRUCE BLAKESLY formed the Speedgraphic brigade that gave Skuli much needed help in the multi pictures that had to be taken and retaken.

A tense moment in the office, Tom can't figure out how a beautiful blonde coed could have the name George; an unidentified worker who didn't even stay for coffee, Bob just broke his prettiest red pencil, and Dick decided the sports world would have to wait while he lit up.

DICK SHADOAN . . . was the one who helped Mac bring in the much needed advertising and, for a freshman, learned fast. Despite many activities, gave the Sentinel a good share of his time.

Ad-chasers and the foot-men of the staff. They were composed primarily of freshmen and spent long grueling hours being turned down or getting ads that could be larger. Did a fine job and stuck with Mac and Dick to the end of the quarter.

CLETE SMITH
The little man who wasn't there.

DICK CONKLIN
The Counselor
knew his sports.

PEGGY CLAPP
Always busy, a lot of help with contracts

BRICE TOOLE
Wanted a secretary and got job as bus. mgr.

C. J. HANSON
Added a spark of humor
where copy is usually dull.

LEW KEIM
Lew the spasmodic one.

DON GRAFF . . . efficient and conservative. Don was a conscientious editor. Treaded lightly over controversial issues and kept a newspaperman's word of silence.

WARD FANNING . . . the typical business manager who cracked the whip to bring in ads. Wardo found time to train his future Mrs. to take over when he left winter quarter.

KAIMIN

The clanking of typewriters and smoke of the copy-room served as a lab for aspiring reporters. Campus newspapers are easy to criticize but the Kaimin was a necessary part of MSU. The editorial staff under the leadership of editor Graff remained firm in its stand despite group pressure.

EDWARD B. DUGAN . . . illustrious advisor of the free press of the campus. Brother Dugan told the "brethern" and "sistern" how much better off they are here than in the navy.

SHIRLEY McKOWN . . . As an associate, "Mac" had the 24-hour task of guiding reporting classes on their beats.

PAT GRAHAM . . . Associate Patty added his Irish blarney and moved up to take care of the money bags for '52.

DICK WOHLGENANT . . . had a definite opinion as to what a paper should do. Did much as an associate and graduated to the position of editor for next year.

CHUCK CARAWAY . . . was the prank man of the copy-room. The "confused copyreader" held up his associate bit and found time for teasing the girls.

JOHN OWEN . . . Sports editor, Owen filled his page with the jargon of the athletic department and had feminine help in a fellow journalist from Butte.

An indication of what can happen after the week-long rush of padding stories and layout pages. Graff, swathed in copy, just bid seven spades on a three card suit.

MARGARET JESSIE . . . Wardo's protege did an excellent job on the business end and despite her many campus activities, proved the old adage, the more you do the more you can do.

BOB CRENNEN . . . press agent for the Minneapolis Tribune, he made a name for himself as Kaimin shutter-man.

JEWEL BECK . . . As society editor she added the needed feminine touch to the rush for deadlines.

TOM AMBROSE . . . gave much time to writing features and talked of the Christmas tree capitol of the world.

GENE BEAUCHAMP . . . as an assistant, spent long Kaimin hours in the copy-room.

LEFT TO RIGHT, Dick Wohlgenant, Marianne Hodgekiss, Doug Dean, Lew Keim.

Wohlgenant is sure it can't be done, but Shirley and Doug have a plan that will revolutionize the newspaper world. No one seems to know what Lew is doing there, but latest reports have it that he is doing research for the Kefauver committee.

JOHNNY JOHNSON . . . as circulation manager, enticed freshmen to help him get the Kaimins out by 8 a.m. with promises of Spur and Bear Paw points.

MOUNTAINEER

JOHN MOORE . . . as advisor, helped promising writers polish their work and kept an eye out for new talent.

LEFT TO RIGHT, FRONT ROW: W. Niva, T. Lindeman, L. Zipperian, D. Patten, J. McCullough. BACK ROW: W. O'Neil, R. Taylor, J. Moore, advisor, L. Kediac, J. Mitchell.

The object of many letters to the editor and a general student controversy, the Mountaineer served as an outlet for English students. It is hard to say who won this verbal battle but budget and finance decided to let the book live. It is written along the lines of James Joyce and a credit to those who spent long hours putting it out each quarter.

FORESTRY KAIMIN

An individual school that puts out its own yearbook is a rarity indeed, but the Forestry school does just this.

They can be justly proud of the result, for they put out a personalized book giving a view of life in the Forestry school and some of the Bunyanite antics.

FRONT ROW: B. Watson, P. Barden, J. Chamberlain.

Picnics, club meetings and the call of the great outdoors. Occasionally one finds a woman brave enough to major in forestry and Doris Peterson either found the longest angle worm in the world or else that article in her hand is one of the mysteries of forestry the rest of us know nothing about. The other picture is Bertha and friend.

DRAMA

LEROY HEINZ
Drama Director

ABE WOLLOCK
Technical Director

Under the able direction of Roy Heinz and Abe Wollock, the Masquers and drama students worked hard to give the student body a taste of the artist. Poor lighting and lack of sufficient room were barriers that had to be overcome. Despite this, the year saw a fine succession of plays. Simpkins hall, the place these dramatists call home, was put up as a temporary building after the first war so the slight discomfort of the audience can be easily understood.

JOAN OF LORRAINE

The second and best production of the year was a play within a play by Maxwell Anderson. Because of its combination, many of the actors had to play dual rolls. It was this play that Hollywood used for "Joan of Arc." Gayle Davidson stirringly portrayed the French peasant Joan, who was to lead the army to victory. Her other self was a Broadway leading lady of rather high morals, believing in the moral character of Joan.

LILLIOM

First of the campus productions brought Molnar to the public. The author's idea of a poverty stricken husband who after death had to make up for his mental cruelty toward his wife, was capably portrayed by the cast and well received by the audience.

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER

The Minnesota Touring Company of the University theater presented "She Stoops to Conquer," Oliver Goldsmith's 17th century comedy. The play was done almost to perfection technically which showed the result of many engagements on the road. ABOVE, Tom Lindeman and Dick Smith talk over the play with some members of the Minnesota cast.

THE DOCTOR IN SPITE OF HIMSELF

This was the controversial play of the year. The controversy arose over the Barnard Hewitt adaptation by the cast and Hinze. However, interpretation is not a scientific law, but a result of thought, and will not be the same in the minds of all.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

A comedy that gave the students a chance to see their professors on stage. It was well received and though the production may not have been the smoothest presented this year, the participants added the humor to make it one of the funniest.

UP

A variety show that gave the students a chance to see some musical comedy of Broadway shows and a few original skits. Nancy Fields took over the direction of the show and did a fine job in a little time. Larry Kadlac is conversing with Will Shakespeare on the esthetic level and below is a scene from "Psychopathic Me and Neurotic You."

STAGE

One of the outstanding numbers was a flicker film of another era. This was done with blinking lights, and jerky actions by the participants. Ya Ta Ta was a takeoff on a big city cocktail party and by the end of the number everyone looked like the two young ladies shown here. The show was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended and was an excellent end to a full year of student productions.

OFFSTAGE

Most of the scenery is made by the students out of much used props.

Lighting can make or break many a show.

Prompters are an invaluable part of the back-stage work.

These are the people that make a show click. They spend long unheralded hours working on scenery, makeup, and helping with technical problems.

MUSIC

JUSTIN GRAY . . . director of the band.
He works just as hard if not harder than any one member in making the band a working unit.

GRIZZLY BAND

In copper, silver, gold, and the band is always there.
Little thanks comes from the student body, but their effort and good showing is always appreciated. Theirs is the biggest contribution as far as spirit goes at the many games and parades.

Colorful uniforms enhanced by more colorful majorettes that give a suggestion of the wild and wooly west. They put almost as many hours on Dornblazer field as the football squad.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

EUGENE ANDRIE . . . amiable director who works hard on many music interests.

A bit of culture is furnished by the symphony orchestra. They gave numerous concerts that were much appreciated by those who attended. These students spent many outside hours preparing for these and should be highly complimented.

NORMAN GULBRANDSEN . . . has done much to help bring music and the University before the public.

We are proud of this choral group and justly so. They entertained for many student convos; outstanding was their Christmas presentation. They, too, did much traveling around the state to build up good-will for MSU.

ACAPPELLA

JUBILEERS

The never-tiring group that sings for dances, convos, concerts and sometimes for their own amusement. They have achieved what is very difficult in group singing, and that is that smooth perfection of a unit.

Pre-season doubts as to the competence of the 1950 Grizzlies were dispelled by the opening triumph over Eastern Washington. The two-platoon system functioned perfectly, as Laird and Wold reeled off long touchdown runs, and our defensive specialists made the whole thing pointless for the Savages. Kingsford hit 10 of 15 passes, and Tackle Jim Murray fulfilled the lineman's dream by recovering a blocked kick in the enemy end zone.

Warm, clear and dry at Eugene, and the Webfeet should have been out of their element. Two long Oregon aeriels beat us, however, as our ground offensive was stopped cold by a heavier line, and untimely penalties and dropped passes proved that you can't beat the breaks. Even in defeat the Grizzlies looked good, as Tom Kingsford amazed the Oregon crowd with a brilliant exhibition, climaxed by a sensational 18-yard bootleg scoring run.

Outgained on the land and in the air, the invading Cougars struck twice and then held on grimly for the win. A good afternoon of football, nevertheless, as Dornblazer fans saw savage blocking make the Grizzly ground game click, while Campbell and company kept the Cougar well caged. Injury laden and uninspired, the Grizzlies weren't any better than they had to be. Despite this and the dismal weather, Kingsford fattened his aerial average at the expense of the impotent Bobcats. Our reserves got a chance, and Kafentzis making two neat catches. Next winter, as the Bobcats poured it on us in the state basketball playoffs, we were to rue the day we didn't run up a more lopsided victory. MSU 33, MSC 0.

MSU 0, OSC 20

Mud and the OSC single wing handed us our only goose-egg of the season in a miserable game at Corvallis. The Beavers were in their element and threw cold water on our passing game, while our T couldn't get going on the ground. You can't beat the weather either.

MSU 35

COL. PUGET SOUND 7

Still water-soaked from the Oregon State debacle, the Grizzlies coasted to an easy win over the outclassed Loggers in a night game at Missoula. Workhorse Lefty Byrne averaged 7 yards a try to lead our offense. A clean game and well played.

MSU 13, NEVADA 19

Playing the famished Wolfpack in the land of the quick divorce, the Grizzlies performed as well as usual individually, but couldn't get in gear as a team. Partisan officiating was again part of the excuse as we contributed the only bright spot to Nevada's season record.

MSU 38, UTAH STATE 7

Slated to be an anti-climax because of the Utags' spotty record, this turned out to be a game. Chilled Homecoming fans were warmed at the spirit and drive displayed by the Grizzlies, who seemed undismayed by the mud and cold. Our aroused defensive platoon, led by Stewart and Miller, seemed to be taking it out on the Aggies for those times we should have won but didn't. Halfbacks Graves and Sherbeck, relegated to relative obscurity by their defensive duties all season, came into the limelight, Graves running the ball well from the offensive formation, and Sherbeck adding to the Grizzly point total with a sensational pass interception in the last quarter.

The trip to Hawaii was tacked on the schedule to reward the players for their efforts in a tough campaign. As a game, however, it was one too many. Montana's lone touchdown was only sufficient to allow specialist Gerlinger to set a new record of 26 conversions.

Seniors Anderson, Bauer, Don Campbell, Hanson, Kafentzis, King, Kingsford, Mayte, Murphy and Stewart, hanging up their gear for the last time, could be justly proud of their contribution to one of Montana's best seasons to date.

Special distinction was accorded Ken Campbell, who received Honorable Mention as a Line-Backer in the AP All-American.

An occurrence during this final game inspired a fitting epitaph to most of the red side of the 1950 Grizzlies' season record . . . "They may have lost the game, but they won the fight."

Give these girls an A for effort. They braved snow, rain, and the Hell-gate wind to stir up enthusiasm for all the games. The formula goes like this: flailing legs, flashing skirts, waving arms, and we all yelled, "rah, rah, Grizzly!"

FROSH FOOTBALL

Coach ED CHINSKE, faced with the task of moulding future varsity stars, drilled the Cubs hard on the Grizzly style and good old fundamentals to make next year's prospects bright.

The Cubs made the most of a three-game season, gaining valuable experience for the varsity years to come. They lost their first tussle, 25-13, to the numerically superior Idaho frosh, but fared better against their country cousins, the Bob-kittens, winning 7-6 and 19-0. Dick Heath's aerals and Paul Weskamp's plunges furnished an effective one-two punch for the Cub offense, and guard Jim Burke and end Ed Anderson were stalwarts in the line.

After Christmas, however, their first participation in Skyline Eight competition proved disastrous, as they lost all three games in the Denver Tournament, and also lost six players, who were suspended for breaking training. Two weeks respite at home were devoted to arduous practice sessions, and to winning one from two with the Montana Collegians. The practice was not sufficient to offset the player shortage, however, as the Grizzlies lost three close ones in Spokane the next week-end. Then came two home games with the favored Bobcats, who won easily the first night but were surprised by new Grizzly tactics in the second game. Playing ball control, the Grizzlies eked out a close win, Mick Luckman's backboarding and driving lay-ins being the major factor.

Idaho State was the next Grizly foe, the new deliberate style netting us a split series with the Bengals. Following this, a trip to Oregon resulted in a win from Willamette, and two tough losses to Portland. In the final four home games the Grizzlies won two close ones from Gonzaga's Bulldogs, and twice humbled the Rocky Mountaineers. Hope was high for the state championship playoffs at Bozeman, but the cow college took both games and the NAIB bid. Hal Sherbeck was named captain for next season, for which 12 lettermen plus several good freshmen prospects will be on hand.

BASEBALL

Firery coach EDDIE CHINSKE called Grizzly baseball aspirants together early in April for MSU's first season in the Skyline-Eight and his fifth year at the diamond helm.

Captain BILL DOUCETTE... A three year letterman, he sparked the Grizzlies from his keystone spot on second. Doucette was valued for his fielding ability.

Montana's first year in league play since the old Northwestern league of 1927 gave Grizzly fans promise for the future, but only three wins against nine losses in Skyline Eight competition. However, the Silvertips of 1951 began the year with a comparatively inexperienced squad as the pitchers and catchers were without varsity experience.

LEFT TO RIGHT, FRONT ROW: G. Carlson, B. Byrne, H. Sherbeck, D. Olson, B. Doucette, D. Artz, D. Bross, S. Hucko. BACK ROW: R. Clark, T. Greeley, J. Murray, A. Jacobsen, B. Louma, D. Hansen, B. Keyser, B. Laird, Coach Chinske, R. Johnston, Manager, H. Fuhs.

Only Ted Greeley and Captain Bill Doucette returned from last year's team and in the outfield slugging Bob Byrne was the only veteran. Chinske molded a scrappy ball club around his three lettermen but where they were weak the season before they were strong this year, and vice versa. For the Grizzlies boasted a good hitting attack, but afield their parting seams gave their opposition many unearned runs and thus Grizzly pitchers little support.

Bill Doucette

Jim Martin

Don Olson

Hal Sherbeck

In the early part of the season the Grizzlies lacked hitting, but as the season developed they gained in hitting prowess. Hal Sherbeck, shortstop, went hitless his first 19 times at bat, but after that he continued to improve steadily. Bob Byrne was the big stickler for the Silvertips most of the season. He hit every game.

In the fielding department the Grizzlies were weak. Chinske was minus pitching this season as he carried only four pitchers most of the season. Although the Grizzlies lost quite a few games, they gained much experience in their first Skyline play, according to Chinske.

TRACK

Winding up its first year of participation in the Skyline conference, the Grizzly track team turned out the best performance of any Montana cinder squad in history. The Grizzlies started the season with a bang by taking their first two meets with one-sided scores, then narrowly losing their third dual by three points. All squad men showed consistent and considerable improvement during the season and two men broke MSU track records. Jack Luckman bettered the shot record by 5½ inches by throwing 48 feet five inches, and Mike Flemming shattered the half-mile mark of 1:57.9 to 1:55.9. This year's team will return almost intact next season.

While they took half the individual first places in the division meet with Utah, Utah State, and BYU, Montana had to give top spot to Utah with its superior depth. Utah tallied $64\frac{1}{2}$ to Montana's $51\frac{1}{2}$. In the all-conference the Grizzlies closed in on the Utes to follow by one-half point, but lost the conference title by again losing the mile relay.

Montana placed second in the seven-school conference meet by running on the Redskin's heels 59 to $62\frac{1}{2}$. Nearest threat was Colo. A & M who stumbled along with $22\frac{1}{2}$ points behind the Grizzlies. Team high-point man was Joe Luckman who stacked up a total of $56\frac{1}{2}$ points in his consistent victories in the 100 and 220 sprints and broadjump, which he won in the conference meet.

Second high with $55\frac{1}{2}$ points, John Badgley gathered his in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump. MSU's undefeated miler, Bill Rife, harvested 36 points in the 880 and two-mile run as well as the mile. Also unbeaten during the season, discus man Bob Ripke won 29 points, including his places in the shot.

Half-miler Flemming tallied $27\frac{1}{2}$ points, shotman and broad jumper Jack Luckman grabbed 26, and quarter-miling Leon Conner earned $22\frac{1}{4}$. With only two seniors on the squad, most of the present team should return next year to form the nucleus of another top-notch track machine.

Adams said he was well satisfied with the Grizzly trackmen's performance at the conference meet and added that the Bears were the only team to take at least one place in each of the 15 events. He gave this year's squad the distinction of being the best all-around track team Montana has ever had.

DICK DOYLE

In April 1950 Dick Doyle threw the discus 158 feet. By June 1950 he had set a record of 171 feet five inches at the NCA conference in Minneapolis and took the championship. Last summer Dick traveled abroad visiting most of the Scandinavian countries giving exhibitions. When he got home he went down to Argentina with the US All-Stars and now he is in training for the Olympics by going around to different meets throughout the northwest. One of Montana's most outstanding athletes, we take our hats off to you, Dick.

WATER

Montana could not send a full squad in its first year with the Skyline conference, but sent a three-man delegation in a successful effort to pick up a few points and let the rest of the conference know there is plenty of spirit and some top-notch swimmers in the north.

Bob Ziegler won the 200-yard backstroke to set a Skyline record of 2:26.5.

LEFT TO RIGHT: Denizil Young, captain;
Fred Erdhaus, coach; Bob Ziegler.

The complete tennis season saw the men from Utah take a 3 to 1 edge over the Grizzlies. Of the six matches played, MSU won two, splitting their two-match series with the Utah Aggies and Brigham Young University.

LEFT TO RIGHT, FRONT ROW: P. Densmore, B. Black, B. Kramer. BACK ROW: T. Crawford, B. Nogler, P. Densmore, B. Sparks, J. Moody, coach.

The Cougars of BYU drew the first Bruin blood of the season by defeating the Grizzlies in the first match, 7 to 2. In the return match here, the Grizzlies edged the Cougars 5 to 4. The second conference match saw the MSU men outclass the Aggies 5 to 4, but on the return match the Farmers swatted out a 6 to 3 win.

GOLF

During the season the golf team won two and lost four conference matches and placed third in the Skyline championship for Montana. The first two matches with BYU and Utah State were clear sailing for the Grizzlies. Then they bowed to the Utah Redskins and the Cougars. Then they took to the road and were downed twice by Utah State. Hubbard and Towle placed in the top eight in the last conference to win individual honors.

Two champions retained their titles, eight new champs were crowned, and two former winners were dethroned in the close, scrappy, hard-fought 11-bout M Club boxing tournament before a capacity crowd. Bob Fraser retained his crown and was awarded the trophy for outstanding boxer of the evening. Marv McArthur came through with his fourth straight win. SAE's won the team trophy for the third time and now get to keep it.

M CLUB TOURNEY

New champions were Don Hinton, Ken Saylor, Chuck Bradley, Dale Christman, Earl Cook, Frank Norberg, Paul Maxwell, and Jerry Newgaard. Comic relief was provided when four brawny Grizzlies engaged in an Australian tag match, starring Bob "Ferocious Francis" Hanson, complete with perfume, wig, valet and leopard skin tights. They all but capsized the ring and partially mauled ringside spectators.

INTRAMURALS

DAVE COLE, the little general of the intramural program, leaves the campus and the successful program he has built in three years, for Penn. State to work on his masters degree.

MSU's intramural sports program ended with another successful season, but suffered in one consequence in that Dave Cole, the capable director, will not return to continue the administration of his well-rounded program. When the season point total was finally computed in the last days of the term, the long point race between the SN's and the SAE's found the Nus the intramural season champions as they totaled 2887.5 points in the nine sport program. The SAE's finished second with 2886.5 total.

The season began with the rough sport of touchball, with daily slaughters held on the turf of the Clover bowl. Amid many California playoffs, the aerial combination from the SAE house copped the trophy from the SN's in the championship playoff. Intra-mural bowling, which got underway fall quarter and ended in the early weeks of spring quarter, went to the SN's after the ATO's had held the top spot for the majority of the season. Falle Nelson, Bob Roberts, Boyd Swingly, and Ferd Melhoff garnered the individual scoring honors in the pin league. Sigma Chi went through the intramural basketball round-robin schedule undefeated only to drop the championship playoffs to the SAE's as they copped their second 500 point sport. Sigma Nu finished third and set the season game record of 94 points in a single game. Upsets were frequent and in the individual scoring Jim White, Don Bush, Ralph Ripke, and Jack Lepley split the cords for the scoring honors.

Unaccountable weather disqualified the intramural skiing championships while Cole added volleyball to the program on a trial-no-point basis. The Sigma Chis went undefeated in the indoor net sport. The intramural program hit full stride with the first signs of spring as the fast softball league play began early in April and the golf tourney at Polson. On the links the Sigma Nus dominated the group foursomes by posting a 361 net score. Don Bruggeman was awarded medalist honors. SAE and Theta Chi finished in the runnerup positions.

Track gained more than before in enthusiasm and competition, even though the Phi Delts took the trophy for the fourth consecutive year. Bob Beach, Kenny Rogers, Bill Nooney, broke intramural track records. SAE again played the second fiddle with the SX's finishing a close third. Horseshoes were postponed from fall quarter to spring, to further load the intramural program. Jumbo's pony pitchers walked away with the laurels. The residence hall crew was closely followed by the Sigma Chis and the Phi Delts.

The biggest spectator sport of the intramural program was softball, which experienced a season of close competition and held the balance of points that decided the season trophy.

Jumbo and Sigma Nu met in the championship playoffs after the Nus had dumped the Jumbo squad in the semi-finals. But the dorm team was not to be denied and they came through the consolation bracket to down the Nus two straight playoffs. George Jurovich fast-balled the Jumbo squad to the championship for the fourth successive season.

Tennis saw the spring rains and match deadlines halt play, which resulted in an uncompleted season.

The championship will be played off next fall with South Hall, SX's, and the Phi Deltis as the contenders. Sigma Nu won the season trophy by placing fourth in the racket sport, while the contending SAE's finished in a tie for fifth.

New Hall took top honors in the volleyball tourney and SK rolled high to cop the bowling first place. The freshmen came through to win in basketball title for North Hall. SK won its second championship in softball. Individual winners were Donna Skates in badminton for the second year, Mary Ellen Styles won ping pong. The Thetas repeated last year's performance to win the swimming meet.

SOCIAL

THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME . . .

. . . those lazy days when students and profs alike hate to put forth much effort. A time when the older folks are around padding up their education and the campus has a definite languid air.

Summer students were in luck when Dr. Urey spoke to them at a convo. Because of his background as an atomic scientist students turned out to hear this very interesting talk.

Joseph Kinsey Howard was here for the Writers' Conference and both the English department and the Journalism school got together for some chalk talk.

FALL DAZE . . .

. . . and indeed it was; everyone was glad to get back and a new crop of freshmen flooded the campus. There was orientation, Butte, parties, and time to get in gear for the old grind.

At the first SOS the new Bear Paws were tapped.

They kept telling us we were supposed to get the whitewash on the M.

ORIENTATION WEEK

It was a busy week for the freshmen, but they loved every minute of it. They kept busy with tests, registration, and wondering what really was going on.

Who wants to paint the M? I, for one, would much rather look at the view.

Butte game . . . we wondered who was pulling whom . . . Vern kept the band in line . . . and for this chap college hath charms . . . Uga, uga, bougle, which in Indian means, "gee, look at all the tourists!"

Helen Morton receives a handshake and a crown, for she reigned over homecoming as queen. Governor Bonner did the honors as a visiting queen from Utah looks on.

HOMECOMING

It was a cold blustery day, but the candidates waited patiently to see who would be the lucky one.

SADIE HAWKIN'S DAY

Shades of Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae . . . the gals ruled that night and spent long hours concocting wierd corsages for their catch. There was straw and low necked blouses all over the place and a good time was had by all.

Alice Joan Stewert stretches her neck to gaze up at Walter Zwicker, for they were chosen the typical Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae of the evening.

FALL FUNCTIONS

Barn dances were in their prime fall quarter and WAA had a regular hoe down out at the veterans' community center. Bank Nite turned the Gold room into a psuedo-cassino. The Bear Paws chose their Spur of the Moment, then came the Christmas holidays.

Intent concentration of the campus gamblers.

Lorraine Eide was chosen Spur of the Moment.

Betty Lou Berland directed group singing at WAA's shindig.

WINTER COMETH . . .

. . . and the snows came too.
Weekends were reserved for the Big Mountain up at Whitefish and the big dances
of the year came into being.

FORESTER'S BALL

The dance that's so big they have to have it two night. The men's gym was overflowing with trees and couples. Spirits were high and so were a few people, and the foresters entertained the campus in true Paul Bunyan fashion.

Eddy Thompson was chosen coed colonel for 1951.

The Rotcy boys kicked up their heels down at the Legion.

BABY IT'S COLD OUTSIDE . . .

. . . but there was plenty to do inside.

There were dances to go to, queens to be chosen and this was the season for firesides.

A uniform well mixed with a tap number served as half-time entertainment.

The Stork club had nothing on the Nite Club dance . . . chorus girls et al.

ROYALTY

The Mardi Gras complete with king and queen. Carol Wickes and Rich Gunlickson took the honors. All the living groups had money-making concessions, giving a flavor of New Orleans.

Young man, you're breaking that girl's back!

BARRISTER'S BALL

Complete with tux, the lawyers proved to the campus in general and the foresters in particular that they can be smooth. Learned Wolsck was their guardian angel and clerk of quart as barristers and their dates were admitted to the bar.

THO' APRIL SHOWERS
MAY COME YOUR WAY . . .

. . . they'll seldom get you as wet as Prescott Towle got while being inundated in high court. Spring picnics were a little cool this year, but the nice days
we did have made it hard to concentrate on studies.

All this waiting and still no food.

Something tells me it wasn't worth the effort to clean here.

IS FOR

Editor Graff discovers what is meant

Nancy Warden takes a bath.

ABER DAY

A-beer day would be more correct, but the campus got clean this year and for the first time in years the holiday in memory of Daddy Aber was on a Monday. Pale-faced coeds were patrolled by the M Club members armed with lipstick. High court was almost respectable and picnics didn't draw too many students away from campus.

INTERSCHOLASTIC WEEK

MSU put on her best bib and tucker and played host to high school students from all over the state. Track was the biggest event and many hearts were broken as well as records being set. Little theater, oratory, and speech contests were going on too.

The Helena relay team takes a bow.

Up, up, and over.

The cream of the crop from the various high schools put on a good show. Missoula came away with top honors this year.

Hail to the queen !

Siperly is sure you can't get a man with a gun.

MISS MONTANA PAGEANT

After much discussion and delayed action on the signing of the contract AWS decided MSU should again make the bid for Atlantic City. It meant a lot of last minute work and a scurry for candidates so beauty could reign. Pat McGinty sang her way to the throne.

FINALISTS WERE, LEFT TO RIGHT: J. Couture, J. Brennan, J. Siperly, B. Rumph, M. Tange, P. McGinty

CHINESE AUCTION

A grand old tradition of auctioning off the services of the campus big wheels. Joyce Siperly and Sis Carstenson went for $33.00 as house girls. Sonny Wold gave the crowd an engaging smile to build up his selling price.

RODEO

The old west lives again and although the day was drippy the crowd was there to cheer on MSU's second Inter-collegiate rodeo. Man, that looks like a hard way to earn a living.

We were happy, but caps and gowns lent dignity to the occasion.

SENIOR

And so it ends, the easiest life we'll ever have. It ends with traditions and memories and best of all a sheepskin.

Gee, I hope I can see the folks when I get in.

WEEK

A diploma, is a diploma, is a diploma, and very nice to have around at that.

A week when the seniors
could really take it easy while the rest of the student body sweat it out over final week. A time for casual goodbyes and sometimes vague plans.

STUDENT UNION

CONVOCATIONS

The SN's present a fan dance.

The SX's at Homecoming convo.

CONVOCATIONS

Student convocations afforded some amusement, but many times showed the hurry with which they were melded together. The general gripe ran, however, that there weren't enough of them.

Music hath charms . . .

BALLET Russe . . . the advantage of a community concert gave MSU students a chance to see professional ballet. The packed house proved to scoffers that we do appreciate good entertainment when it comes.

WHITMORE & LOWE . . . a piano duo that pleased both the students and town audience. They presented a program of semi-classics and ended with some much appreciated horse-play.

VIRGINIA CITY PLAYERS

The Virginia City Players performed several of their middle 19th century American dramatizations and a variety show of the same era for which they are noted in their Virginia City summer theater. This group, which bears a faint connection with the University, was not quite as professional in its ability as it could have been. Outstanding was Ben Tone, an excellent character actor.

VETS' VALLEY

Maybe it didn't have all the comforts of home but the families that lived out there called it that. PAN-HELLENIC

The gripe board of the sororities, Pan-hel decides what shall and shall not be worn at rush parties and doles out infractions to the offenders. Working for a closer-knit relationship between the groups, they had a workshop winter quarter. This spring they had a retreat. Compared to surrounding colleges they find that MSU rates high in good feelings among the sororities.

INTER-FRATERNITY

With a looser reign than their counter-parts, Inter-frat guides the "fraternity boys" along the designated path. They try to keep pranks down to a minimum, especially trophy borrowing. It was their duty to see that raids on sorority houses were cut out and this year they worked more as a unit than in many years past.

The Alpha Chis worked hard this year to get into campus politics. The publicity did them no harm. It is definitely a sorority that is going up with a fine new house and a fine lot of girls to help it.

SWAN SONG

This is the end of a book and a year. The book, as the year, is not infallible and it would be as silly to make excuses for one as for the other. I hope that you will savor the memories, for they are yours just as the book is. The errors . . . well let's say they belong in the smoke-filled office the staff called home.

Thanks and appreciation are due countless individuals. To those titleless helpers who did the menial tasks that go with any publication. To Max and Lorin Wheelwright, who were so much help in solidifying a year of planning and dreaming. To Jack Nixon, whose services helped Mac. To Cyrile, who helped when the pressure was on. To Bob Crennen for many of his valuable pictures. To a staff that so quickly learned to be a jack of all trades. And to you, gentle reader, for if this book is a success, you shall make it so.

"WHO'S WHERE?"

This last section of the 1951 Sentinel will enable and help you find old classmate's names, discover a new friend or acquaintance's name, or see what your blind date or future love affair looks like.

But even more important It will enable you to look over the ads of merchants who were twenty-five per cent of the financial support behind this publication.

These merchants are alumni, parents, or friends of the University performing a welcome service to our school by their willingness to advertise through this means. Their merchandise is of the best, their prices well within your budget, and more important, their spirit is necessary for educational support.

We can all express our gratitude by patronizing these advertisers whenever the occasion arises.

KNOW MONTANA

The Mullan Road Was Safer, Easier . .

The Mullan road, built in the years 1857 to 1862 by Captain Mullan of the U. S. Army to link the Atlantic and Pacific coasts by a northern route, served three useful purposes :

It shortened the distance to be traveled by wagons between Fort Benton and the Columbia river; it lessened the hardships of emigrants who otherwise would have had to travel by pack train, and, by serving as a feeder road to and from the head of navigation at Fort Benton it encouraged travelers to come up the river, avoiding the Indian raids along the overland route by way of the Sweetwater and North Platte rivers.

Capt. Mullan, whose name is borne by two passes in Montana was commissioned to build the road for military purposes. It became an important thoroughfare for emigrants traveling between the valleys of the Missouri and the Columbia.

Today U. S. highway No. 10 and the transcontinental tracks of the Northern Pacific follow closely the trail blazed by Mullan and his men before the Civil war.

Mullan's first work was a survey which started from Fort Benton in 1854. He followed the level prairie road to Sun river, went on to Dearborn river and from there to the Little Prickley Pear valley, finding an easy wagon road for 124 miles south of Fort Benton.

He crossed the Rockies about 20 miles northwest of Helena. He followed the Little Blackfoot and Hell Gate to the Bitter Root, crossed the Bitter Root range near the town of Mullan, Idaho, and from there passed through Fourth of July canyon to Lake Coeur d'Alene and thence to the Columbia river valley.

Old familiar places!

The class room, the campus, the student union and many familiar meeting places will long remain in the memory of each MSU student.

Too, there's another landmark important to every student and alumni, (and we speak with pride for we've been reminded many times), "It's the big friendly store on the corner!" In turn, we are pleased to know and talk with each student ever to attend Montana State University . . . we've joined in the activities . . . helped with their problems . . . and, we are "peacock proud" to be included as part of each student's university agenda!

No Matter Who You Are--

ELECTRICITY Is Working For You!

In the home, on the farm or in industry, electricity is at your service, day in and day out, bringing you more comfort, better living and greater productivity.

And electricity is economical—it's only a small percentage of your total costs. That's because America's business-managed, tax-paying electric light and power companies constantly are planning, preparing and building so that you will have better service at lower cost.

In Montana, for example, the cost of your residential electric service has decreased 80 per cent during the years we've been serving you. Although our costs have gone up and our taxes have increased tremendously, we're proud of the fact that your electric service still is your biggest bargain.
